Scottish Football Association Codes of Conduct

The Scottish Football Association is justifiably proud of the long history that the game had played in this Country. The past 130 years have witnessed significant achievements and created lifelong memories for hundreds of thousands of people. To ensure that Scottish Football plays a significant part of our future for the next 130 years we need to be smarter about the way we preserve the traditions and values of our game.

One of the critical components of our game is the passion that people show for the team & club that they support. Whilst this passion is usually harnessed and used to support our game, it sometimes can boil over to create negative situations. We must all work together in the attempt to eliminate this negative passion. Codes of Conduct are an integral component of footballing activities and the following codes compliment the good work of the many football bodies in Scotland.

All Members of your club or association must adopt Member specific codes and the SFA encourages Members to be vigilant in enforcing such codes whether via support for those who constantly abide by the codes and / or penalties for those who fail to act in accordance with the codes.

Note that a Code of Conduct should support a club's constitution and may be used to replace what some clubs refer to as club rules. Secondly, Fair Play must be fundamental to the aims and objectives of the club, where it is crucial to ensure that all members, officials and volunteers abide by the rules, respect everyone and maintain high standards of sportsmanship at all times.

In ensuring that all members of the club are aware of the Codes of Conduct the club should promote the Codes by including them in club handbooks, welcome packs and newsletters where appropriate. It may also be useful for the club to produce separate codes of conduct for different target groups within the club, an example of which may be, a) coaches, b) junior members, c) officials & volunteers and d) parents / carers.

The Wick Academy Code of Conduct for Coaches and Volunteers working with regulated children is included in the Club's Child Wellbeing Policy, document reference WAFC-P-008.

SFA STATEMENT

The SFA values the role of sport and its contribution to overall human development by providing good quality footballing opportunities in a safe and positive environment. The SFA promote personal, professional, and social well-being through footballing experiences, regardless of an individual's socio-economic status, age, gender, race, ethnicity, national origin, religion, disability, or sexual orientation. The SFA Codes of Conduct set minimum standards of best practice for all clubs, coaches, players, parents / carers and volunteers involved in football in Scotland. We must all aim to improve standards and protect the welfare and well-being of everyone involved in Football, in particular young footballers and those who are vulnerable. We must all strive to embody values, virtues and standards of excellence appropriate to the club setting. Ultimately, we must actively pursue our goals, realising the importance of our own, and our fellow participant's commitment to uphold ethical duties and social responsibilities to others.

GAMBELING AWARENESS

It is vitally important that players are aware of the rules and regulations concerning betting. All professional players in Scotland, MUST adhere to the rules as set by the Scottish Football Association (SFA) in particular disciplinary rule 22 (rule 33 in updated Judicial Panel Protocol for season 2013/14) which states that:

No club, official, Team Official or other member of Team Staff, player, match official or other person under the jurisdiction of the Scottish FA shall bet in any way on a football match (except authorised and registered football pools).

For avoidance of doubt, players, should note that this prohibits betting on ANY football match, at ANY time and in ANY country.
